

CALIFORNIA: Upon cancellation of the transportation of travel services, where the passenger is not at fault and has not cancelled in violation of any terms and conditions previously published and made available to the passenger by the passenger, all sums paid to the seller of travel for services not provided will be promptly reimbursed to the passenger unless the passenger otherwise advises the seller of travel in writing at the time of cancellation. This provision does not apply where the seller of travel is a travel agent who is a customer to another registered wholesale seller of travel or a carrier, without obtaining a more and about whom someone else is to receive the benefit of transportation or service. In this situation, the initial seller of travel must provide the passenger with a written statement accompanied by verification of the seller's bona fides. The statement must be accompanied by a copy of the customer's payment and is subject to a registration with the Department of Consumer Affairs. California law requires certain sellers of travel to have a trust established by the seller of travel, which is based on the Travelers' Liability and Claims Act of 1991. The trust must be established in the amount of $100,000. Amex is not a participant in the California Travel Consumer Restitution Fund.

WASHINGTON: If transportation or other services are purchased by the seller of travel, all sums paid to the seller of travel for services not performed in accordance with the contract between the seller of travel and the purchaser of the travel must be returned to the purchaser within 10 days of the date of the purchase. If the funds were not sent to the vendor, the funds shall be returned within 10 days of the date of the purchase. If the funds were sent to the vendor, the funds shall be returned within 10 days of the date of the purchase. If the funds were not sent to the vendor, the funds shall be returned within 10 days of the date of the purchase. If the funds were sent to the vendor, the funds shall be returned within 10 days of the date of the purchase.
